

Research & Analysis Reports

Commercial operations are sensitive to changing political, social, economic and security realities. Henderson Risk Limited provides high-quality, individually-tailored products to support and guide our clients in the commercial decision-making process, with an emphasis on the emerging and high risk markets.

Our in-house team is supported by a network of regional associates and risk specialists operating in the field to provide real-time intelligence.

SERVICES

■ Country and Regional Reports

HRL's analysts produce a range of country and region-specific reports, supported by a comprehensive understanding of foreign operating environments. Our experts analyse the current and future political landscape, the socio-economic environment and regional relationships to determine a client's risk exposure and to offer recommendations in support of a client's strategic and operational decision-making.

■ Security and Threat Assessments

Accurate and up-to-date assessments on regional, national and micro level threats, including civil unrest, political risk, crime, kidnap and natural hazards.

■ Risk Analysis

Our unique Risk Rating Mechanism provides a quantitative measure of risk specific to regions, countries or sectors, which is supplemented with qualitative analysis and intelligence from local sources.

■ Travel Advisory

HRL offers pre-trip advice including analysis of the current risk and recommendations on risk management, which can affect travel plans. We also provide a 24/7 response line for clients should an emergency take place.

■ Political Forecasts and Electoral Analysis

Elections and political instability can radically transform operating environments overnight. HRL uses a combination of local sources and political expertise to identify and analyse the risk associated with politics and elections.
